Topic: Update on National Park Project/This week's assignment

February 18, 2008

Dear 4th Grade Community,

The national park project is coming along and hopefully by the end of this week everybody will have finished their national park project. Some students have already handed in their maps which are full of detail and information. A majority of the students have finished their rough draft of their written report. On Thursday and Friday of last week the students finished their storyboard for their Power Point slide show on their national park and began assembling the slide show on the computers. Phew! Overall, the student have been working extremely hard and dedicated to producing outstand work.

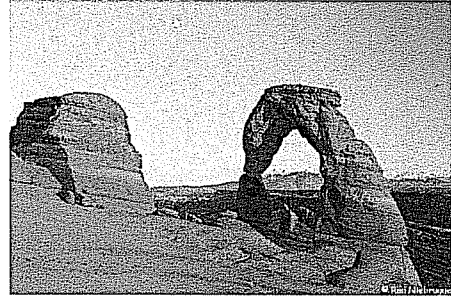

At home, this week the students should work on creating three multiple choice questions to put at the end of their power point slide show. The students will have two nights to complete these questions. This assignment has been discussed in class on Monday. A description of the assignment is listed below.

As always, if there are any questions contact me at school.
